Every year, many products are being recalled from a wide-range of consumer markets to ensure that manufacturers are keeping their products safe, credible and compliant with government regulations. Following such recalls is the inevitable personal injury litigation which can have huge, costly and far-reaching effects on manufacturers. To successfully navigate and survive the complex recall-related litigation, it is important to have a well-planned litigation strategy in place.

This LIVE Webcast will discuss the recent trends and emerging issues in product liability litigation.

Some of the major topics that will be covered in this course are:

- Pre-litigation and post-accident investigations for manufacturers
- An overview of theories and defenses
- Recent trends and emerging issues for manufacturers
- Chain of distribution/tender/indemnification
